The Sydney is the Post-office Packet for January, and has made a quick passage of one hundred and four days from the Downs, but brings no later news than that received during the week via India. She reports having spoken on the 13th March, in lat. 39:50 S., long. 26:44 E; the ship Bolton, from London and Falmouth, with emigrants, bound for Adelaide. The Brankenmoor, for Sydney, was in the Bowns when the Sydney sailed, and would probably leave the same day.

The City of Sydney has had an extraordinary quick run of seventy-five hours from Launceston. The brig William, from Hobart Town, and the schooner Marys, from New Zealand, arrived there on Monday last. The barque Rookery sailed on the 14th instant, for Portland Bay, to load for London. The brig Emma hence, arrived at Hobart Town on the 14th instant.

The Thetis has been seventy hours only on the passage from Port Phillip, and the John Piric, seventy-four. The steamer Juno hence, arrived there on the 14th instant, and sailed again on Monday last for Portland Bay and Adelaide. The steamer Shamrock arrived at Melbourne from Launceston on the 16th instant. Passengers: Mrs. Patterson and family, Miss Marzetti, Miss King, Mr. J. H. The brig Skerne, from the Mauritius; the barque Queen, from Glasgow, 100 days out; and another barque, name unknown, arrived at Port Phillip on Monday night last. The Shamrock would probably leave for Sydney on Wednesday morning. The John Piric passed a schooner, apparently bound for Port Phillip, off Cape Schank on Tuesday, supposed to be the Martha and Elizabeth, hence.

RACES.

Although the entrances are not so numerous as they have been on former occasions, yet perhaps for no provious single stakes have there been so many "crack" horses entered to compete as there are in some of the present races. The Cumberland Turf Club, therefore, look at this, their second meeting, to sustain the reputation their races acquired at that of the part year, and having considerably improved the race course, in the Government Domain, by removing some trees which forced some sharp turns being made, now claim the course as one of the best in the colony. Without offering any opinion on its racing advantages, it is certainly an admirable one for spectators, as the horses can be seen, with the exception of some two hundred yards, the whole round of it.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

London, 31st December, 1847.

GRENTIERES,—The shipments of Hides and Tallow received from New South Wales into lomus.

Grantlemen,—The shipments of Hides and Tallow received from New South Wales into England this year have exceeded those of last. Of hides the increase is 7993, and of tallow 1300 casks. The import of Mimosa Bark has been much less than in former years.

At the close of last December the prospects for Hides were unfavourable, and we are glad that our friends have had a very small portion of the shipments this year. No instance can be recorded when Australian Hides left such bo recorded when Australian Hides lett such continuous and heavy losses as during the past year; from January last up to the time we write, we believe there has not been a single instance in which a loss has not been sustained, and taking the whole of the shipments of the year, the average loss cannot be less than 40 to 50 per early.

The sterling value of the total imports of Hides, Tallow, and Bark, received this year into London and Liverpool we estimate at £128,100, against £109,000 in 1846, and £212,000 in 1845. The value of the Tallow received from the colonies into England this year we estimate at £94,000, against £67,000 in 1849, and £146,000 in 1849, and £146,000 in 1849.

Early in July the market became unsettled: some arrivals from the River Plate began to appear; as there was a general impression that the shipments from Russia this season would greatly exceed those of last, there was an unusual desire to sell Russian tailow for delivery at the close of the year;—this created a want of confidence in prices, and although the demand for Australian was fully equal to the supply, which came forward in small quantities, prices gradually declined from that time to the end of November, when they were fully 6s. to 7s. per cwt. below those at the close of June. Owing to adverse winds the Russian vessels kept out much later than usual, and as vessels kept out much later than usual, and as the stock of foreign tallow was greatly reduced, and English melted continued scarce, there and English melted continued scarce, there was an increased demand in the early part of this month, and prices advanced considerably, but subsequently a reduction has been submitted to, leaving the present rates 5s. to 5s. 6d. on mutton, and 6s. to 6s. 6d. per cwt. on beef tallow, lower than at the close of last December.

The early arrivals this year consisted principally of beef tallow, but there has been a fair proportion of mutton tallow in the shipments received during the last three months, which in most cases met with a ready and

The casks received this year generally landed in good order, and we have heard of very few complaints of loss by leakage on the voyage.

In our report at the close of last year we estimated the charges to which tallow was liable at 5s, per cwt. (not including Marine Insurance and Merchanta' Commission), calculating the rate of fleight which was then paid; but his rates of freight this year have been unusually high, varying from £3 10s. to £5 5s. per ton, which has materially enhanced the expenses;—however, calculating the rate of freight at £4 per ton, all the charges (except those included above) will not except 6s. per cwt.

those included above) will not exceed 6s, per cwt.

The total quantity received into England this year amounts to 2093 tons, the gross value of which we estimate at £94,000, against 1522 tons, realizing £67,000 in 1846, and 3650 tons, realizing £146,000 in 1845.

The total import into England this year has been—into London 6542 casks against 5125 in 1846, 13,090 in 1845, and 6300 in 1814; into Livermon 292 casks, against 400 casks in 1816.

1846, 13,000 in 1845, and 6300 in 1844; into Liverpool 292 casks, against 409 casks in 1816, 1404 casks in 1846, and 178 in 1844. The present stock in this market reaches 1801 casks, against 736 casks at the close of last December, and 2332 casks at the close of 1845.

At the close of last December various circumstances combined to render the prospects for tallow favourable for at least six menths; the healthy position of the market during the pring menths, and the high prices obtained up to last June, appear to have carried out the views then entertained of the trade.

In anticipating the state of the market for a views then entertained of the trade.

In anticipating the state of the market for a distant period, there is always a great degree of uncertainty, for, at times, casualties intervens to overthrow all business calculations, (auch as the late panic, for instance) which no ordinary foresight can guard against;—therefore, in looking forward to what the position of the English market is likely to be, it is necessary to embrace all the circumstances that cessary to embrace all the circumstances tha or the English market is likely to be, it is necessary to embrace all the circumstances that are calculated to bear upon and influence it, and in doing this it is our wish to lean to the side of safety, preferring that our friends should miss making a profit, rather than that they should incur the risk of a loss.

We are of opinion that high prices cannot be calculated upon next year. Supplies are now coming freely from the River Plate, and there is every prospect that before next autumn our intercourse with those states will be uninterrupted. The high prices of last spring have brought an increased supply from Russia this season, and though the value of tailow the next six months may not be low, owing to the continuance of a short production of Englishmelted, yet, after that period, when all the channels of supplies are open, and greatly reduced freights hold out encouragement to shipments from all quarters, we are inclined to believe that reviews will made.

Minosa Bark.—No sales have taken place during the present month, and there has been no import.

The supplies this year have again been very small, not exceeding 800 tons, against 830 tons last year, and 1450 tons in 1846. The present stock is 280 tons, against 28 tons at the close of last year, and 20 tons at the close of 1846.

This article has been in very limited request alto year, owing to the reduced prices of all descriptions of tanning materials, and to effect sales low prices have been accepted. At present there is no enquiry for it, and the best qualities cannot be quoted over £8 to £8 fs., for good enough bark; £7 fs. to £7 los. for good chopped; and £6 los. to £6 per ton for unchopped, or in the stick;—these prices are fully 20s. per ton lower than at the close of last year.

The gross value of the total import into London this year does not exceed £4600, against £6640 last year, and £13,500 in 1845.

Hals.—No supplies have come forward, and at does not seem probable that it will form an article of shipment from Sydney, no remarks are necessary.

marks are necessary.

Honns.—Being a description much liked, Hours.—Being a description much liked, they have generally met ready sale. During the first six mouths they brought high prices, but since arrivals have come forward from the River Plate, a gradual reduction in value has taken place, and they are now fully 15 to 20 per cent. lower than at the close of last December. The present prices may be quoted as follow:—good ox, fresh and clean, weighing 17 to 20 oz., each horn, are worth 26s, to 28s., and ox and cow, weighing 10 to 16 oz. each, from 14s. to 20s, per 123.

Hoors.—Nearly all the parcels received this year were broken, stale, and dirty, and not fit for manufacturing purpose;—the present value ranges from £6 up to £7 10s. per ton, according to soundness and freshness. Good fresh perfect hoofs generally meet ready sale.

Boxes.—Shank bones have invariably met a ready sale at fair to good prices. Sound fresh parcels at one period sold freely from £10 up to £11 per ton;—the present value, however, ranges from £1 up to £9 per ton, according to quality;—common or carcase bones, for manure, cannot be quoted over £3 10s. per ton.

LATE ENGLISH NEWS. . . . (From the Home News, January 7.)

THE LATE LIBUTENANT-COLONEL J. BAMINGTON.—Our obituary records the death of another distinguished officer of the late Peninsular war, Lieutenant-Colonel John Babington. He entered the 14th Dragoons at an early age, and served with a detachment of that regiment in the expedition to Quiberon Bay, and the taking of the Isle of Dien, in the south of France, in 1795; subsequently for two years in the West Indies; in the Peninsula and south of France from 1809 to March, 1814, including the different affairs with the enemy on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of May, 1809; the crossing the Douro, battle of Talavora, affairs with the enemy's advanced posts on the 11th of July, 1810, in the front of Cuidad Rodrigo, when Colonel Talbot, commanding the regiment, was killed; passages on the Coa, and various actions covering the retreat to Almeids to Torres Vedras; battle of Basseo, and in all the actions with the enemy in their retreat from Santarem to the frontiers of Spain; the Pass of Maya, lines of Ainhoa,
Nive, and Nivelle, Combo, Hasparen, Hellette, Gorris, Sauvaterre, St. Gladi, battle of Orthes, wounded (horse killed) and taken prisoner on the 14th of March, 1814, in a cavalry out-post affair at Clarac, between Aire and Psu.
On the close of the Peninsular war he rejoined the 14th Dragoons, and sailed with two aquadrons of that regiment to join the army in Ame-

Silk Incculated with The Potato Roy.—The Art Union Journal relates that a manufacturer of silks, having received from his dyer a large quantity of goods in a spotty condition, threatened him with an action, unless he was compensated for the loss he was likely to sustain, owing, as it appeared, to the dyer's carclessness. This being resisted, chemists were employed to detect the cause of the accident; but they were at fault, until it occurred to them to subject the damaged silk to microscopic examination. This was undertaken by an ominent naturalist, who at once discovered that the spots were owing to a peculiar fungus, having all the characters of that variety which was detected in the potato disease. The result was the discovery that all the damage had been effected by the manufacturer and not the dyer, he having employed in the process of manufacture a starch which had been prepared from diseased potatoes.

The Revenue And Expenditure for India, for the year 1813-4, after deducting the charges of collection, amounted to £17.173.788, or 183,187,076 rupces; for 1814-5, to £17.123.135, or 184,469,116 rupces; for 1814-5, to £17.123.135, or 184,469,116 rupces; for 1814-5, to £17.121.2016, for 1814-145, £18,036,649; for 1814-5, £18,036,649; for 1814-6, £19,307,795. The charges defrayed in England on account of the Indian territory, in 1813-4, amounted to £2,944,073; in 1814-5, £18,036,649; for 1814-6, £19,307,795. The charges defrayed in England on account of the Judian territory, in 1813-4, amounted to £2,944,073; in 1814-5, £18,036,649; for 1814-6, £19,007,795. The charges ture has been calculated to increase the efficiency of government. In so far as strict mercantile exactness can go, the finances of India have been well administered. Yet, notwithstanding this exactitude, there is the permanent deficiency staring us in the face, and making itself folt in the diminished dividends of Indian stock, and the increased interest on the Home Bond Debt. The inevitable inference from this state of affairs is that the Indian Government is, at this moment, as much deficient in the higher and vital qualities of statesmanship as it is irreproachable in the minor virtues of a steward or book-keeper. The steadily augmenting derangement in Indian finances is not to be cured by accuracy in accounting and the paring of details of expenditure, but by a bold and judicious revision of the whole financial and commercial system of India.—Paily News.

Sin Parsenmen Mattland's Patiza.—The

dicious revision of the whole financial and commercial system of India.—Raily News.

Sir Perromine Mattland's Prize.—The sum of £1000 has been accepted by the University of Cambridge for the purpose of instituting a prize, to be called 'Sir Peregrine Mattland's Prize,' for an English Essay on some subject connected with the propagation of the Gospel, through missionary exertions, in India and other parts of the heathen world, the prize to be given once in every three years, and to consist of the accruing interest of the principal sum during the preceding three years. The Vice-Chancellor has given notice that the prize will this year be given for the best essay on the following subject:—"The respective peculiarities in the creeds of the Mahomedan and Hindoo which stand in the way of conversion to the Christian faith." Candidates for the prize must be, at the time when the subject is given out, bachelors of arts under the standing of M.A., or students in civil law or medicine, of not less than four or more than soven years' standing, not being graduates in either faculty, who shall be required, before they are admitted to become candidates, to produce from their respective professors certificates that they have performed the exercises necessary for the degree of bachelor of law or medicine.

Thus English funds again experienced a slight decline to-day, but recovered before the ter-mination of business, and closed at yesterday's prices. The first quotation of Consols was 86½ to ½ from which they soon receded to 85½. A to 4, from which they soon receded to 85\frac{1}{2}. A reaction, however, ultimately occurred, and they left off at their opening price. Bank stock closed at 180\frac{1}{2} to 188\frac{1}{2}. Reduced Three per Cents., 84\frac{1}{2} to 86\frac{1}{2}; Three-and-a-Quarter per Cents., 86\frac{1}{2} to \frac{1}{2}; Long Annuities, 8\frac{1}{2} to 11-16ths; India Bonds, 3s. dis, to par; and Exchequer-bills, 10s. to 12s. premium. The feature in the foreign stock market this afternoon was the sudden advance in Spanish, occasioned by purchases effected in connexion with rumours respecting the return of Espara uternoon was the sudden advance in Spanish, occasioned by purchases effected in connexion with rumours respecting the return of Espartero to power and the improved condition of the finances of the country. The Five per Cents., it which opened at 183, were done at 194, but this price was not quite supported up to the close of business. The Three per Cents., were first marked in the official list at 30, then rose to 304 and were finally quoted 304 to 51. The balance-sheet of Messrs. Thomas and Joseph Sands and Co. Liverpool, whose failure took Place on the 20th instant, has been made up, and shows, it is said, a surplus (after deducting estimated losses) of £35. In the list of assets the bills payable in America are put down at their full amount.

The celebrated preacher Father Ventura himself, had an interview with the Pope on the 16th, at which he did not hesitate to condemn the marked predilection his Holiness had lately evinced towards that religious order, and observed that if he wished to serve the Jesuits, he should not do so ostern sibly, because his alliance with them would destroy his cause and that of Catholicism, by involving both in the unpopularity attacked to the subject. From the knowledge of this fact two questions arise: Are the reefs seen by the Hormuzeen and Chesterfield to the north-west of this band true eval reefs, or are they only shoals of sand, mud, or other materials? Of what are the islands called Duncan's Archipelago composed? If these latter are not coral islands, and I believe they are not, it is probable that deep water channels (8 or 10 fathoms) may be found between or around them, unless those channels should be blocked up by the more than naval arterision of the up by the more than usual extension of the "fringing recfs."

The second feature is the sudden ending of "fringing recis."

The second feature is the sudden ending of the coral reefs of the Great Barrier to the northward, and their reluctance to approach that part of the coast of New Guinea, composed of alluvial materials, and traversed by fresh water channels. This is a well known character of coral reefs, which results from the fresh water channels. This is a well known character of coral recis, which results from the incapacity of the polypi to live in sea water charged with mud, or at all mingled with fresh water. The nearest patch of coral to this coast; the fringing reef of Caedha or Bramble Key, is composed chicity of a different species of coral from that forming the great reefs to the southward.

Now, if the reefs seen by the Hormuzeen and Chesterfield are really coral reefs, (and the extension of the Warrior Island reef renders this probable,) a hydrographical deduction may be drawn from these facts:—namely that none of the drainage of this part of Guinea disembogues on the coast near Talbot Island, but is all thrown into the sea to the northward of Bampton Point.

This is also rendered probable by the other fact of the rocks forming the north and south ranges of the Australian coast stretching across. Torres Strait, towards this part of New Guinea, since if this great rib of rocks no longer rises incent.

since if this great rib of rocks no longer rises in-to hills in that country, it will at least tend to do so for some distance before its effect on the do so for some distance before its effect on the surface of the ground is utterly lost, and probably form land above the average level of the surrounding country, and thus defect the drainage to the northward and eastward.

The fact of the Murray Islands, together with Erroob or Darnley Island, and Bramble Keybeing all composed of volcanic rocks, renders it probable that Aird's Hill is also volcanic.

It probable that Aird's Hill is also volcanic. In that case a range of volcanic hills is very likely to proceed from the volcanic range of the north coast of New Guinca, and strike the south coast somewhere to the eastward* about 146 or 147. These would also deflect the drainage of that country in the direction of that part of the south coast of New Guinca which lies between the meridian of 143 and 145 R.

ENCOUNTER WITH BRARS.

(From the Bytown (Canada) Advocate.)

An encounter with four bears took place a few days ago, in the vicinity of Tura-height, on the Madawaska river, in which a friend of our and two of his men were the parties encounter.

blister the tongue or lips on their passage into the world, or occasion any other kind of bodily suffering; and we have never heard of any mental trouble arising from this quarter. Though they do not cost much, yet they accomplish much. 1. They help one's own good-nature and good-will. One cannot be in a habit of this kind, without thereby pecking away something offthe granite roughness of his own nature. Soft and good-will. One cannot be in a habit of this kind, without thereby pecking away something offthe granite roughness of his own nature. Soft words will soften his own soul. Philosophers tell us that the angry words a man uses in his passion are fuel to the flame of his wrath, and make it blaze the more fiercely. Why, then, should not words of the opposite character produce opposite results, and that most blessed of all passions of the soul, kindness, be augmented by kind words? People that are for ever speaking kindly, are for ever disinclining themselves to ill temper. 2. Kind words make other people good-natured. Cold words freeze people and hot words scorch them, and sarcastic words irritate them, and bitter words make them bitter, and wrathful words make them wrathful. And kind words also produce their own image on men's souls; and a beautiful image it is. They soothe, and quiet, and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his sour, morose, unkind feelings; and he has to become kind himself. There is such a rush of all other kinds of words in our days, that it seems desirable to give kind words a chance among them. There are vain words, idle words, hasty words, spiteful words, silly words, and empty words. Now kind words are better than the whole of them; and it is a pity that, among the improvements of the present age, birds of this feather might not have more of a chance than they have had to spread their wings. Kind words are in danger of being driven from the field, like frightened pigeons, in these days of boisterous words, and warlike words, and passionate words. They have not the brass to stand up, like so many grenadiers, and fight their own way through the throng. Besides, they have been out of use so long, that they hardly know whether they have not perhans the world; not knowing but that perhans the world was done with them, and right to make their appearance any more in our bustling world; not knowing but that perhaps the world was done with them, and would not like their company any more. Let us welcome them back. We have not yet begun to use them in such abundance as they ought to be used. We cannot spare them.—

All the known geological features, then, o Torres Strait and its neighbourhood, go to make its probable that the drainage of a very large part of New Guinea disembogues on the tract of coast indicated, and show the reasons of its doing so.

ind question apprets to the posterior side of the church.

Instative power of birds, that a canary who has been taught to pipe, having heard a chaffinch that daily sung in a tree near the window where the cage was hung, learnt his note in a few days, omitting at that time the air he had been accustomed to sing. At the end of the spring, after having been removed from the neighbourhood of the chaffinch, he resumed the air as before. A nestling nightingale also learnt the notes of a hedge-sparrow that sung near it, for want of other sounds to imitate; and it was extraordinary to hear the gentle, although agreeable warble of the latter, attuned to the full compass and power of the nightingale. The effect was most pleasing, although of course not equal to the natural notes of this bird, not one of which he retained. Indeed, many birds are almost, if not entirely initative, and, in default of hearing the paront bird, borrow notes of others: soft-billed birds always prefer the song of soft-billed birds, and vice versa. It is hoped, from what has been said on the above subject, that persons who are in the habit of keeping caged birds will be induced to educate them in the manner suggested. Then, instead of hearing the shrill, deafening natural notes of the ennary, they will be delighted with those of the nightingale, the blackcap, and other warblers. "They will then breathe such sweet music out of their little instrumental throats, that it may make mankind think that miracles are not ceased." So said the good Izaak Walton.—Jesse's Favourite Haunts.
